JACKSON, MISSISSIPPI – The Jackson Historic Preservation Commission (JHPC) recently honored JBHM Architects, Duckworth Realty and Peters Real Estate with an Award of Merit for the commercial rehabilitation of the Electric 308 Building and Plaza Building in downtown Jackson. The JHPC acknowledges the individuals, organizations and businesses whose exemplary work has contributed to fostering civic pride in Jackson through preservation projects that safeguard the city's historic, aesthetic and cultural heritage.

"We are really honored that the historic preservation commission has recognized Electric 308 and the Plaza," said Richard McNeel, AIA, Partner of JBHM Architects. "In renovating both buildings, we looked at the existing properties to see what opportunities existed and utilized what was already there to keep the essence of what made those buildings special in the beginning."¹
